THE ADVOCATE.

Edmunds on Blaine.

The following alleged interview with Senator Edmunds is going the rounds of the press:

"Everything at Washington is very quiet," said Mr. Edmunds. "I was only there for a few days. I have been in New England for several weeks, and am now on my way to Nashville, Tenn. I never was over this route before, and I thought I would come over it and drop in at Asheville, N. C., and see the much-talked-of mountain scenery."

"Whom do you think will likely be the next Speaker of the House of Representatives in Washington?"

"Crisp, of Georgia, and Mills, of Texas, have large following. From what I can learn, it looks as if Crisp is likely to win. He would make an able presiding officer. Leo Mills and his friends are confident of his success."

"Which of the two, in your opinion, would make the best presiding officer?"

"They are both men of ability," said the Senator in reply. "Crisp is the coolest and Mills the most excitable."

"What do you think of Mills' tariff views?"

"Some of his papers I have read are strongly put and forcibly drawn."

"Well, I suppose Mr. Harrison will be nominated by the Republican party for President in 1892, will he not?"

"Yes, it looks so—he wants it. He has recently made a tour of the South and West and has returned to Washington. He was well received and created in some places enthusiasm, and much to the surprise of his friends, as well as his political enemies, on his tour he made a number of brilliant speeches. Blaine could get the nomination if he wished—he could have had it before when Harrison was nominated. Yes, he could get it now. I know Blaine well. Blaine is a sick man. What he wants most is health. He has got Bright's disease—that's his trouble. His health is wretched. He realizes his condition and is taking no active part in politics, nor is he likely to. Since he has been in Harrison's Cabinet he has devoted his time and attention only to the duties of the Cabinet officer. The Reciprocity Treaty, Blaine's work, and whatever others may claim, the credit must be given to whom it belongs, and that is to Blaine. Blaine is one of the strongest men of the Republican party, and if his health would permit him to enter the canvass and he was the nominee of the Republican party, he could be elected."

"Don't you think Harrison could be?"

"But at this point the Senator looked out of the window and said:

"Is not that a very clever view over there?" and the answer never came.

"Well, who do you think will be the Democratic candidate?"

"Cleveland. He is growing in popularity daily. He is the strongest man in the New England States with his party."

"If Harrison should be the Republican candidate and Cleveland the Democratic candidate, which would likely be elected?"

"The Senator was non-committal, but rather intimated that he thought Cleveland's chances of election were better than were Harrison's."

"Senator, what do you think of the third party?"

"Oh, it's a short-lived affair; it is likely to last long enough probably to give both parties some trouble. The election of the President may fall to the House of Representatives. No one can tell what their strength may be for a time. No party can live on the demands that they are making; they are bound to be short-lived. In many sections of the Union where they have strength their leaders are 'sore-heads' who have made every effort to get into office and have failed, and now they see that their only political future is with this party. The idea of such men as Jerry Simpson and others being called by the press statesmen! They can talk more 'losh' to the square inch than any man I ever heard of."

"What do you think of the South?"

"I am glad to see its increase in wealth and population. The outlook for the South is bright. Its mining and manufacturing interests are in their infancy."

A traveler who had stopped at a tumble-down log house in a wild part of Kentucky was much disgusted with the corn bread and rancid bacon that was placed upon the table, writes Opie Reed.

"I don't see how you can stand such fare all the time," said the traveler, speaking to the 'landlord'.

"Wall, mebbe y' eyesight ain't as good as mine. Ef it was, I reckon you could see it."

"I see a number of chickens in the yard; why don't you kill some of them?"

"They ain't never done me no harm," said the Kentuckian.

"But why don't you eat some of them?"

"Wall, they don't belong to me."

They are men!"

"Why don't you kill one of those young pigs out there?"

"Just as soon kill one out there as anywhere, but I ain't got nothin' against any of them."

"I mean why don't you eat one of them?"

"Oh, wall, they don't belong to me. They air Nan's."

"I see you have turkeys. Why don't you eat some of them?"

"They don't belong to me. They air Bill's."

"Is there anything on the place that belongs to you?"

"Yes; I've got a pint cup."

"Is that all?"

"All!" indignantly exclaimed the Kentuckian. "Why, confound yo' hile, what's better to drink liquor out of than a pint cup? Look here; do you think I'm stuck up, an' don't want to sociate with my neighbors? Stranger, I'm afeard that if you stay round long you will learn our people how to put on airs. I reckon you'd better move."

"But I don't want to leave during such weather as this."

"Mister, when the morals of a neighborhood are at stake the weather don't amount to nothin'; yo' hoss is out there in the stable, an' yander is the road. Mosey! Man, step out that an' turn that bulldog loose."

That evening about six o'clock a weary and drenched man was seen jogging a mule-drawn cart.

Italy's Criminal Celebrity.

A criminal with remarkable history has been brought to public notice after a long period of oblivion by the announcement that Dominico Nochia, who was born in 1808, began his career of crime in 1827 by murdering the Mayor of Grandoli and his brother.

He fled to the mountains, where he organized a band of brigands, and for more than nine years terrorized the surrounding country, looting diligences, murdering men and assaulting women. It is estimated that by robbery and ransoms he accumulated 1,000,000 francs.

The event of 1831 Nochia was seized with an unaccountable desire to renounce his wild life and join the priesthood. He managed to re-enter civilization undetected and began his studies for the Church at a seminary where the present Pope was also a student at the time. Before completing his studies, however, he was recognized by a woman whom he had assaulted in his bandit days. She betrayed him to the police and he was arrested, and clues obtained which led to the arrest and conviction of the men who had followed him in his career of crime. Seven of these were executed; but Nochia, in reward for turning State's evidence, was let off with a sentence of life at the galleys. All his bad impulses seemed to return with his reversal of fortune, and he proved a hard prisoner to manage. In 1841 he murdered his warder and in 1843 the prison doctor, since the last mentioned episode he has not been conspicuous until now.

Mrs. Cleveland.

A little while ago there came a message to certain of the women who are engaged in works of charity, and who at the same time are among those who carry the burdens and labors of social life in New York. This message was one of those delightful hints which matrons hear with a sense of sympathy and gentleness aroused. No more touching message is ever brought to a mother, and with the Freemasonry of her sex, which the tender experiences of maternity teach every mother, the message is communicated by intuition, almost, so that all women who are friends of one another know it, and from every one upon whom the hint is centered that sweetest and most tender sympathy which women who are mothers accord to one another.

No queen was ever held in greater homage or ever received such tributes of a woman's affection as is the lot of the fair young woman to whom a President of the United States devoted his affection, and who brought to him a greater crown of delight when she became his bride than even the called honor which a nation bestowed upon him. And when it is known by the people every where that the time is near at hand when sympathy and prayer and affection, and with all, hope and joyful greeting should be extended to those who made possible the life in the White House a romantic then congratulations will be given.

The event is sure to be the topic of the nation. In the contemplation of it all political differences will be forgotten, and it will even cast a halo over the prosaic strife of party.—(New York Press.)

If you are in the tobacco business for money, and consider this little sum worth saving in the sale of ten hds. of tobacco, ship to the GROWERS' HOUSE.

W. T. JONES, of Henry County, Manager. HARRY SNOOK, of Shelby County, Asst. Manager. Capt. B. A. Tracy, Solicitor.

IS IT WORTH SAYING? It will cost you to sell at any old Warehouse in Louisville a hhd. of tobacco, supposing the hhd. to net $10, as follows: Warehouse charges $2.00; Commission $1.00; 10 lbs. Sample $1.00, — $4.00. It will cost you to sell 10 hds. at the same rate, $40.00. It will cost you to sell at the GROWERS' HOUSE, the same tobacco: one hhd., $1.00; no deduction for sample; no commission; 10 hds., $15.00. Showing a difference in favor of the GROWERS' HOUSE of $25.00. If you are in the tobacco business for money, and consider this little sum worth saving in the sale of ten hds. of tobacco, ship to the GROWERS' HOUSE.

Harris Institute.

The next term of my school will open Tuesday, Sept. 1st, 1891. For terms apply to Mrs. L. H. Harris.

Give Sharp, Trimble & Denton a call if you want special bargains in hats, gents' furnishing goods, etc.

Fifteen acres of good grass within 2 miles of the city, not been grazed this season, plenty of water. Apply at this office.

Mr. Thos. Donigan was taken suddenly and severely ill with congestion of the stomach and bowels on Friday morning. He has suffered intensely and is still a very sick man.

Mr. J. D. Wilson has bought the meat shop fixture of Turkey & Laughlin and is to be found, as of old, with the very best meats of all kinds on hand. He is now located at Laughlin's old stand, next door to Sharpe Trimble & Denton, on Main street.

Mr. Jacob Trumbo, of this city, and Col. Dan Runyan, of the Live Stock Record, Lexington, spent Sunday with Capt. James Ewing, of Bath county. They had a very enjoyable time talking over their old Mexican war memories.

Mr. Mat. J. Holt, son of Chief Justice W. H. Holt, was examined by the Judges of the Court of Appeals on Tuesday and granted a license to practice law. He will probably locate at Pineville or Middleborough for the practice of his profession.—(Frankfort Roundabout.

The entertainment on Thursday night for the benefit of the Library was a financial as well as social success. Mrs. Richardson told us she made about $35 about all expenses. Mrs. Richardson had worked very hard to make the entertainment a success, and we are glad for her sake that it came off so well.

Mr. J. K. Rodgers says that he has just received a letter from his partner W. A. Crawford, of Staunton, Va., which states that on account of heat over 1000 lambs died from Monday morning till Wednesday night and this weather continues there will be thousands of dollars lost on lambs this season.

Mr. Thos. Greenwald and wife, of Frenchburg, were in the city several days the past week, completing arrangements for the entertainment of visitors to the District Conference, which meets at Frenchburg to-morrow. During the session of the Conference the new M. E. church will be dedicated by Rev. R. Hiner preaching the dedicatory sermon. A cordial invitation is extended to every one to attend these services.

Dr. A. Goldstein, the oldest and most skillful oculist of Louisville, is stopping at Mrs. Mat. Coleman's. His experience of forty-seven years gives him a great knowledge in his profession. Persons, young and old, whose eyesight is lost and painful, will be benefited. Dr. Goldstein examines the eyes and gives suitable glasses to relieve whatever trouble may be existing. Any call for his services left at Mrs. Coleman's will be promptly attended to.

We are informed that several well-known gentlemen and prominent stock-raisers have secured an option on a 200 acre piece of land, and they propose to buy and upon which they will build a fair and trotting track in case the proposed track near the distillery shall prove a failure. The gentlemen referred to have the means and the energy to carry out anything they may undertake in this line, and whilst the track will not be quite so near the city as the one on the grounds of the Mt. Sterling Improvement Co.'s lands, still it will be very convenient, and the gentlemen will also establish a breeding farm at the track.

We call attention to the advertisement of the Millersburg Female College, which appears in this issue. There is no better school for your daughters and you can commit them to no safer hands than those of President Pope and his excellent faculty, who are determined to maintain the present high standard of the college. It is a Kentucky school and should be maintained by our people in preference to schools abroad, which are no, as a rule, so good, and generally more expensive. The recent concert and commencement exercises were ample demonstration of the character of the teaching done there. Patronize the school.

Reduced Rates to Frenchburg. Tickets for the round trip to Rothwell, June 24 and 26th, good until the 26th. The M. E. District Conference commences at Frenchburg June 24th. Tickets for the round trip only 80 cents, via the Kentucky & South Atlantic R. R.

K. C. Reese & Co. keep always on hand the choicest fresh meats. The commencement exercises of the Girls School of this city took place at the Opera-house, on Monday night of last week, and the many who attended pronounced the entertainment a decided success. The class of young ladies go out into the world well equipped for the battle of life, and their teachers were every reason to be proud of the work she has done in their behalf. Mr. L. T. Chiles pronounced it "the finest, the best-looking and the most intelligent the Mt. Sterling Public Graded School has ever turned out." On this point no one can take issue with him. The school goes farther and say we believe the school will never have reason to be other than proud of the "Class of '91."

If you want to double your money in a short time, take shares in the National Building & Loan Association, of Louisville.

That genial gentleman and well-known merchant Mr. W. Morris has moved from the old Jack Wrenn stand to the large and splendidly appointed store room lately occupied by Friedlander & Marshall on South Main street, where he will be glad to see his many friends. His new quarters will give him ample opportunity to display his goods in the most attractive way. If you want to buy groceries, boots, shoes or gents' furnishing goods and desire to buy them at prices that will make you money call at the new quarters of W. Morris. He always has on hand just what a good housekeeper wants for her table, be it handles nothing but the very best in his line.

Cassidy & Smith want you to call on them before you buy your binder twine. They have some specially fine twine that they are offering very cheap. 45-2t

The Menzies County F. & L. U. will meet with Sulphur Spring Union on Friday, July 17th, at 9 o'clock a. m.; business of importance will occupy the attention of the meeting. The sub-unions of the county are invited to three delegates each. It is earnestly requested that every sub-union be represented, as officers for the next year are to be elected and installed. Let us have a full meeting and a good time.

THOS. D. MURPHY, County Sec'y.

The 12 per cent. net dividends of the National Building & Loan Association are better than the 15 per cent. dividends in any similar institution, as the National deducts nothing from monthly installments to pay expenses.

A party of gentlemen were sitting in front of Lockridge & Thompsons stable Sunday afternoon when Mr. W. W. Thompson, cashier of the Traders Deposit Bank, came up and the following dialogue took place between the cashier and Uncle Dud Lockridge:

Mr. Thompson—Uncle Dud you are a thinking man, and a man that reads the bible, I want to ask you a question.

Uncle Dud—Fill it and answer you.

Mr. Thompson—Do you think there will be any banks in heaven?

Uncle Dud—No and d—m few bankers.

Mr. Thompson suddenly discovered he had urgent business up street, and Uncle Dud's self-satisfied chuckle followed.

GRUBBS-HAZELLRIGG.

A Brilliant Wedding.

Last Tuesday evening the merry wedding bells rang out their glad acclaim, as two hearts that had already plighted faith, were made fast and strong by a union of hands. Mrs. Willie Grubbs and Miss Mary Willie Hazellrigg were married at the Christian church on that evening. The presence of a crowd that so entirely overtaxed the capacity of the large audience room and gallery, that many were turned away, testified to the popularity of the contracting pair. The decorations were in perfect taste. No more vulgar display, but a delicate mingling of flowers and evergreens that lent such a gladness, joyous, yet subdued air of happiness to the whole scene, that one knew intuitively that an artist had planned and executed the work. No more pretentious display could be justified to the tasteful arrangement about the altar. The flower chosen for the chief element of decoration was the daisy, fit emblem of the modest and pure young woman who was to give her life into the keeping of a manly man. As if invoking the aid of a program of a name of one of the contracting couple, made of daisies studded with brilliants, and the effect was simply dazzling. Suspended just over where the bride and groom stood as they were made one, were two white doves, as if invoking the aid of heaven upon the happy pair. The hour having come, and the contracting couple, with out of the chapel came little Susette Johnston leaning on the arm of Colonel Gatewood, and Landsdown Hoffman and Jamie French, another bride and groom, followed the first. The wedding march walked down the aisle, and losing the chains of daisies, admitted the ushers, Messrs. Robert Gatewood and Pierce Winn, and Robert Winn and Lawrence White, who were preceding the bridal party. The first Christian, attending to the duties of church and home with a fidelity and a devotion that won for her a high place in the regard of her wide circle of friends. For three years she has been a great sufferer, but Christian fortitude and unimpaired endurance marked her life. When the last great enemy came she met him with that fearless faith that is only born of a Christian's faith in the promises of the Merciful One. Gladly laying down the burden of her earthly cares, she had but one regret of leaving this world. It was that of leaving behind her three lovely children, and bidding them come to her in that blessed by and by, into which she so confidently entered, fell asleep in the arms of that Saviour she had so earnestly endeavored to serve. She leaves a husband and two children, Edward, aged eight years, and Annie Miller, aged three. These will keep in memory the loving kindness of the wife and mother who thought no sacrifice too great to make for her loved ones.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. Hiner and Rev. E. L. Southgate, and the casket was buried in the Lexington cemetery. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community in this hour of their sad affliction.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Lillian Rogers wife of Mr. Samuel Rogers died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Bettie Smith, near Aarons Run, on Sunday morning last. Mrs. Rogers had been married about 12 years and leaves a husband and three children. She was a member of the Christian church and had made this city her home for several years. Burial at Sharpburg yesterday. The funeral services were conducted by Elder H. D. Clarke, of this city.

Died at her home on Stepiens, Saturday, June 13th, Mrs. Mary Myers, aged 70 years. Mrs. Myers was a most estimable woman and one who will be sadly missed by those to whom her kind hands have ministered in their hour of suffering. She was one of those who was always willing to do what she could to relieve and help, where sickness or trouble overtook those around her. She leaves a husband, four sons, and a daughter to mourn the loss of one of the best of wives and mothers. Her maiden name was Conner, and she was a wide connection with the Smith and Bath counties.

Mrs. Jennie T. Robertson, wife of Mr. J. E. Robertson, of this city, died at the home of her mother, Mrs. John P. Miller, in Lexington, on Monday, June 15th, 1891, aged 31 years. Mrs. Robertson was the daughter of Warren and Fannie Bain; was born May 31, 1860, and married to E. F. Robertson Jan. 20, 1887, and since that time she has resided in this city. She was a devoted member of the Methodist church, having connected herself with it when only 14 years of age, under the ministry of Dr. H. P. Walker. In all these years she has been a faithful, earnest Christian, attending to the duties of church and home with a fidelity and a devotion that won for her a high place in the regard of her wide circle of friends. For three years she has been a great sufferer, but Christian fortitude and unimpaired endurance marked her life. When the last great enemy came she met him with that fearless faith that is only born of a Christian's faith in the promises of the Merciful One. Gladly laying down the burden of her earthly cares, she had but one regret of leaving this world. Woodard tried to shoot Jones, who fired first, the ball passing through Woodard's stomach killing him instantly.

Senator Vest, notwithstanding his position on silver, announces that Mr. Cleveland, in his opinion, will be the head of the Democratic ticket next year. Senator Gorman was in Cleveland, Ohio, Friday, June 19, consulting with ex-Secretary Whitney and Dan Lamont. Even United States Senators, as well as members of the other house, sometimes find out how the wind is blowing.—[Louisville Times.]

Next Thursday (June 25) has been set apart by the K. of P. of Lexington to decorate the graves of their dead. The Transcript says: "Dr. J. W. Pryor, Henry Kruse and Jake Kruse were appointed a committee to solicit flowers. There are about twenty knights buried in the Lexington cemetery. The Lexington Lodge is now the most flourishing one in the State and has a membership of 270. The various lodges in the State will be invited to attend and participate in the decoration services."

A mad cow epidemic is prevailing near Elton, Ia. A few days ago a mad dog bit a cow that soon began to show signs of the rabies. Extreme precaution was taken to prevent a spread of the epidemic, but in a short time symptoms of the malady became manifest in other cattle. At the present time there are said to be twenty-five cows similarly affected and great alarm prevails. It is announced that all showing symptoms of the disease will be promptly shot.

The full ticket as nominated by the Ohio Republicans is as follows: For Governor—William McKinley, Jr. For Lieutenant-Governor—A. L. Harris.

For State Auditor—E. W. Pae. For State Treasurer—W. T. Cope. For Attorney General—J. K. Richards.

For Member Board of Public Works—Charles E. Groce.

For Food Commissioner—F. B. McNeal.

For School Commissioner—O. T. Carson.

New York Herald of Monday: The Western man who plucked his farm as "for sale," when asked satirically when it would sail, replied, "As soon as anybody comes along who can raise me."

Wall street has been for some time in the position of that farm. It is ready to sail as soon as it becomes evident that speculators can "raise the wind" at low rates.

Yesterday's bank statement is the first important indication we have that the wind is rising and unless unforeseen conditions shall develop at home or abroad, it is altogether probable that prices will sail.

Judge Montfort, of the Franklin Circuit Court, has set the trial of the cases of the Commonwealth against the bondsmen for next Monday, and in order to take up the cases he has agreed to continue his court two weeks longer. The cases will be tried under the decision of the Court of Appeals, reversing the judgment of the Circuit Court on the first trial, and holding that the bondsmen, separately or together, are liable for the defalcation of Tate, but that the State is not to prove the liability must set out specifically the defalcation on each bond or any one or two bonds, in which the same or any single one of the bondsmen sued may be the security.

The Air Ship.

Negotiations are complete whereby the machine-shops of the Pennington Air-Ship Company will be transferred from Mt. Carmel, Ill., and St. Louis to Burlington. Mr. E. J. Pennington, the inventor of the air-ship, has been in Burlington for the past week conferring with a number of prominent capitalists, and as a result, the Burlington Air-Ship Company was organized and articles of incorporation taken out. The capital stock is $100,000 with $100,000 paid up. The ship now being built at the St. Louis Exposition grounds will be shipped to Burlington next week, and it is expected to fly from Burlington to New York City. The ship is expected to fly from Burlington to New York City. The ship is expected to fly from Burlington to New York City.

Official Compliments.

It was in the cars, where sooner or later he who listens can hear everything from declarations of passion to the quarrels of hate, the lightest gossip of the frivolous. Two women were chatting together of a funeral which they had been out of town to attend. "Yes," one of them remarked, "I don't know when I've been to such a good funeral."

"No," the other responded, "nor I." "Didn't you think that was a beautiful selection from Scripture?" "Yes; beautiful." "And those two hymns; weren't they appropriate?" "Yes; there couldn't have been anything more appropriate."

"Well, the corpse chose 'em all."—Boston Courier.

A Nickel-in-the-Slot Library. The latest development of the automatic fund is a railway library, which means a case of books fitted into railway carriages. The volumes are presumably to be returned to the case at the end of the journey, but what is to prevent one passenger handing his pennyworth to a companion who is going on further? Nor indeed would it be difficult for a traveler, with uncertain ideas on the subject of honesty, to carry away under his rug any really valuable tale that he had not time to finish in the train.—London Letter.

The Sacred Bone. The bone Luz, or the "resurrection bone," is the lower extremity of the spinal column. The Jewish rabbis taught that it was incorruptible, and from it, as from a seed, the human body would spring at the resurrection. It was a Jewish tradition that the Emperor Hadrian questioned a rabbi as to the existence of this bone, and was convinced by the production of one by the Jewish teacher. Various attempts were made to destroy it. It was cast into a furnace and came forth unscathed; it was steeped in boiling water, but remained unsoftened; it was smitten with a hammer, and the hammer was broken. Some trace of the former reverence for the bone is found in the modern name—Os Sacrum.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Brunettes in the East. In New York City any one who walks about with his eyes open cannot fail to observe the noticeable preponderance in numbers of brunettes. In both sexes the brunette type of beauty largely predominates, and the women, while dark complexioned, are also quite small and usually of well rounded figures. In Boston and New York City practically the same conditions obtain, but Brooklyn has a rather larger percentage of blondes.—A. B. Kardlin in N. Y. Herald.

Napoleon's Treatment of His Creatures. In the Talleyrand memoirs in The Century the following remark is thrown in at the end of his account of Marat's treason, and suggests, if it was not suggested by Talleyrand's personal experience: "There was in Napoleon's power, at the stage it had now reached, a radical defect which seemed to me necessarily injurious to his stability, and even tending toward his final overthrow. Napoleon took delight in displaying, in humiliating, in tormenting those that he himself had raised; and they, placed in a state of continual distrust and irritation, worked underground against the power that had created them and that they already looked upon as their greatest enemy."

An Act of Heroism. A young British engineer named Alfred Fraser, connected with a railway in Peru, heard that an American engineer in charge of some work in a peculiarly pestilential valley had been struck down and was fatally ill, his only chance being a transfusion of blood from some healthy person, involving grave risk to the latter which of course no one would bear. Mr. Fraser at once offered himself, and, in spite of the doctor's remonstrances, saving the stranger. The operation was performed and both engineers entirely recovered.—London Times.

Put up fifty wooden boxes in a city, none of them in the least resembling mail boxes, and paint on each one the name, "This box is for mail orders—drop to mail in here," and inside of forty-eight hours over 100 letters designed for the mail will be pushed into them. It's a way people have.—Detroit Free Press.

Dear, Yet Cheap. Hoffman Howes—Howell Gibson I hear is in hard luck lately, and yet he still dresses very well. He must have a good friend somewhere.

Town Knox—Yes, it's his trousers stretcher.—Puck.

New York produces and eats more than any city in the world. There are eight or ten large factories that make nothing but pies, and there are five or six candy bakeries besides that deal exclusively in them.

The origin of washing the hands before eating is from the fact that meals in olden times often consisted wholly of pie, which was eaten with the hands. It was this custom which gave rise to the folk.

Should He Remain. Mr. Scrabble (indignantly)—Sir, I have just discovered that your son has engaged himself to two of my daughters.

Mr. Grubbe (stupefied)—The young rascal! He should be compelled to marry them both.—London Globe.

The first person to attempt to export from this country to foreign lands was an American named Tudor, and although his first shipment in 1505 met with poor success he at last established the business on a permanent basis, shipped to tropical climes and proves a paying industry.

The Standard Oil Company.

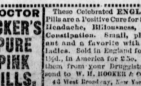

There are two or three interesting facts about the marvelous growth of the Standard Oil Company that have never been put together. The value of the first refinery built by Rockefeller was about $50,000, and this represented the capital put in by Rockefeller and Samuel Andrews. Andrews had been a porter in a commission house, and Rockefeller had formed his acquaintance while he was still a book-keeper. When the operations of the firm became so great that the original capital increased by the rapidly accumulating profits, was still altogether inadequate, Henry M. Flagler was taken into the firm and a new firm created under the name of Rockefeller, Andrews & Flagler. Flagler's father-in-law, S. V. Harkness, put in $60,000. About a year subsequent to this the business had grown so large that the firm turned itself into a corporation with a capital of $1,000,000. In 1880 the capital was $2,000,000, and is now $90,000,000. The stock is quoted at $70, so that this $90,000,000 represents over $150,000,000 of market value. About ten years ago Andrews, the one-time porter, became dissatisfied and Rockefeller asked him what he wanted for his life interest. Andrews wrote on a scrap of paper $1,000,000. Rockefeller accepted the offer quick as a flash, and within a day or so the money was paid.

Speaking of $1,000,000 recalls the story of $100,000 in which Mr. Rockefeller's partner, Henry M. Flagler, figures. The story has been told among Mr. Flagler's friends, and there seems to be no doubt of its truth. When Mr. Flagler gave away his daughter to Mr. Rockefeller in marriage he gave her $100,000. She sold some time ago and left this property to her husband.

Dominated by a perfectly natural feeling under the circumstances, the husband offered to return the money to Mr. Flagler. Mr. Rockefeller refused to receive it. The transaction is quoted, of course, as creditable to both men.

To return to the Standard Oil story. It may be said in conclusion that after Andrews' share was purchased by Rockefeller for $1,000,000, the fight with the railroads came. The pipelines were established and the Standard Oil Company began to acquire the gigantic proportions with which everybody is now familiar.—World.

While an Indianapolis citizen was riding on a street-car in that city the brake handle slipped from the driver's grasp and struck a pistol in the driver's breast pocket. A bullet from the weapon killed the passenger instantly. His wife has recovered $5,000 damages from the car company.

Young Mrs. Blaine's old trouble of indigestion has been cured. She is now left her and she still limps painfully. But her general health is much improved. When she passed through Chicago last week, on her way to Dakota, she was accompanied by her young son, who is now a sturdy and hearty little fellow of his distinguished grandfather.

Two months ago an engineer on the Louisville, New Orleans & Texas road on the Jackson division, Mississippi, ran over a goose. Since then its mate has been the best of his ability, great animosity for the engineer. The engineer says that whenever his engine signals for the station the old gander knows the whistle, and in spite of attempts to scare it off flies at the engine as though it were its deadliest enemy.

An old sailors-grinder who died at Goshen, Ind., the other day was found to be worth $21,000, though he was supposed to be poor and needy.

Despoiled depositors in wrecked Philadelphia banks threaten to sue the Government for their losses, which they charge to the incapacity of Uncle Sam's sworn guardians of the people's rights.

It is reported to be a fancy of the fashionable girl that after wearing her long suede gloves three or four times she takes them to a shoemaker and has made from them a pair of slippers for her chosen admirer.

It is noted that the fish catch of the New England coast this year is equal to the promise of grain yield at the West. Every smack comes into port loaded to the guns, and 1891 bids fair to be a year of great prosperity.

Almon Filmore, a nephew of President Millard Filmore, carries an old-fashioned open-faced gold watch which belonged to his uncle. It is an English lever and seventy-five years ago was probably one of the most valuable watches in America.

In France the Government still levies a tax on doors and windows.

To the French his small but this tax amount to a little more than three francs a year, but in the towns it rises to seventeen francs annually for each family.

The sword which Custer used in his campaigns against the Indians, and which he lost with his life at the battle of Little Big Horn, is now in the possession of a Chicago man. His battered blade is as flexible as whalebone, and looks as it had been hewn by a hand-to-hand encounter. It is covered with numerous designs of drums, flags, cannon, and other implements of warfare.

A certain little girl, who is just learning to read short words, takes great interest in the big letters she sees in the newspapers. The other evening, after she had kept her mamma busy reading the advertisements in the newspapers to her, she knelt down to say her prayers. "Dear God," she whispered, "make me pure," then she hesitated, and went on, with added fervor, a moment later, "make me absolutely pure, like baking powder."

The census just taken gives Paris a population of 2,422,939 inhabitants. When the Reign of Terror began the population was about 600,000, but in 1798 it had been reduced by army conscriptions and political executions to 447,756. No city in Europe has grown at a greater rate per cent., the population having been doubled once and a half times over since 1846.

The present population of London is 4,282,921, only a million less than the population of the State of Pennsylvania, and nearly half a million greater than that of Illinois, the third State of the Union. Berlin has a population of 1,500,000. St. Petersburg, 955,226, and Vienna, 899,440. (Louisville Times.)

It is stated that the Kansas wheat crop this year will yield the enormous quantity of 58,000,000 bushels, which is many millions above the average. When it is recalled that several States are ahead of Kansas in the production of wheat, it would seem that the estimate of 525,000,000 bushels for the total crop of 1891 is not extravagant.

The enormous production of cotton last year and its decline in price, combined with the abundance of the crop, occasioned a considerable increase of grain acreage at the South, and as a consequence a greater percentage of the crop of the South, which is the staple of the South, will be exported. This, no doubt, will bring all the gold we have received since January back to our shores.
